June - July 2012

Benjamin Graham (1894-1976) was a British born American Economist and professional investor. Graham is considered to be the father of Value Investing. Even Warren Buffett described him as the second most influenced person in his life, after his own father.

His Books, Security Analysis published in 1934 and the Intelligent Investor published in 1949 are two most widely acclaimed books on investment

This issue of the Investigator does'nt have any "headline". Instead five famous quotations of Benjamin Graham have been given as the "bottom line".

The Bottom Line is.....

"Even the intelligent investor is likely to need considerable will power to keep from following the crowd".

"I have noticed over last 60 years on wall street that people do not succeed in forecasting what's going to happen to the stock markets."

"The Investors chief problem and even his worst enemy is likely to be himself".

"In the world of securities, courage becomes the supreme virtue after adequate knowledge and a tested judgment are at hand".

"To achieve satisfactory investment results is easier than most people realize; to achieve superior results is harder than it looks".
